Trade and Business

There are two full-time proprietors engaged in the business, who are assisted by two other full-time members of staff. In addition, there are variable numbers of part-time staff working differing hours and undertaking a range of duties.

The business trades all year round 5 days a week apart from a short break occasionally to suit the owners. The opening hours of the bars are normally 11-30am-3:30pm, and then 6:45pm-10:00pm each day. These hours are very limited to suit the owners' lifestyle. These hours could readily be extended. Catering is offered during all of these trading times at present.

Letting bedrooms are available all year round but currently just 3-day weekends, and a tariff of £150 per room, bed and breakfast for two persons is charged. There is potential to expand upon letting bookings as currently these are only taken for 3-night stays.

Around 90% of the hotel bookings come directly to the hotel, with the remainder coming through an agency. This keeps commission charges very low.

It should be noted that the now Proprietors operate this business to suit their own lifestyle, with a limited trading hours during most of the year and keeping the operation as simple as possible. There is therefore significant opportunity to increase trade by longer opening hours, and perhaps changing the style of operation. This particularly applies to the letting bedrooms, and catering offering.

It is considered that this business should be capable of sustaining sales of an average of up to £12,000 gross per week.

Financial and trading information will be supplied to seriously interested parties, following inspection.
