THE PROPERTY

2 Beverley is a fine and imposing Victorian terraced house (one of only three), understood to have been built in circa 1897 with natural stone and brick elevations under a clay tiled roof. Under the current ownership, the property has been subject to extensive modernisation and improvement to a very good standard.

The good sized and spacious accommodation is arranged over three floors and enjoys distant country views. Original features of its age and type include high ceilings, part sash windows, deep skirting boards, dado rails, part wooden doors, ornate cornices and ceiling roses, mosaic tiled floor, marble fireplace, part stained glass windows and a fine staircase.

The excellent specification includes gas-fired central heating with part traditional radiators, part replacement sash-style windows, engineered oak flooring to the main rooms, newly fitted quality bespoke contemporary kitchen with stainless steel worktops, integral sink, stainless steel range cooker (gas hob and electric oven) plus integrated dishwasher and integrated washing machine and a contemporary en-suite shower room to the principal bedroom with large walk-in shower.

The well presented accommodation briefly extends to:

Ground floor - Hall, large through living/dining room (formerly two rooms), kitchen
First floor - Landing, principal bedroom with en-suite shower room, second bedroom, bathroom, separate WC
Second floor - Landing with pull-down ladder to large attic, bedroom 3 with walk-in store (potential en-suite shower room), bedroom 4.

The house is slightly set back with a small front garden behind low brick walls with railings. EV charger. At the rear is an attractive part walled courtyard garden, which is part paved together with raised beds and a very useful brick store/workshop. The house has pedestrian rights of way over next door onto Uplands.
