

Archibald Road, London, N7 0AN

Asking Price £1,850,000

In the same family ownership for more than forty years, an exceptionally spacious five bedroom late Victorian terraced house, full of period charm and detail, ideally situated in a quiet, leafy side turning in prime Tufnell Park.

Arranged over three principal floors plus basement and attic levels, the property offers 2343 square feet (217 sq metres) of family-friendly accommodation, well presented, but with scope for updating.

On the raised ground floor, a grand double reception with high ceilings, decorative plasterwork and fireplaces has windows to front and rear and a good size eat-in kitchen, with original larder, leads on to the garden.

On the first floor, a stately master bedroom is complemented by a good size second double bedroom, wc and a very large and lovely bedroom to the rear, with extensive glazing to two sides, perfect for use as an office.

On the second floor are two further very good double bedrooms and a family bathroom, with steps leading up from the landing to a further

- Fabulous late Victorian terraced house of 2343 sq ft
- Large double reception
- Two bathrooms
- Two storage cellars
- Good size garden with open southerly aspect
- Five very good double bedrooms
- Spacious eat-in kitchen
- Guest WC
- Numerous charming original period features
- Prime residential location