Description

Always popular and rarely available, the houses on The Links favour those looking for quiet and tranquil space to bring up a growing family. Backing onto West Malling Golf course, those who partake in the sport will recognise the benefits and those who don't will benefit from open views and privacy.

Flexible space is offered throughout the house and starts with a great entrance hallway that welcomes you into the centre of the home. It offers access to a downstairs cloakroom, stairs to the first floor and onward travel into the main living spaces. These include a kitchen diner that has been opened up and truly is the hub of the home offering enough space to provide a family sized dining table and great kitchen with plenty of storage that wraps around to give side access to the garden. Two large windows offer light from the back garden into this room. The original kitchen door giving return flow into the hallway.

The main sitting room is of great proportions and offers plenty of sitting space to take in the heat of the open fire in the colder winter days or social evenings with the family. To the rear is a large conservatory that looks out over the stunning garden and beyond. This is currently used as more formal dining space. This re enters the house into what is currently used as a fabulous sized study but previously as a playroom for those younger family members. A second lounge maybe for multi generation buyers or older children.

Upstairs off the central landing the layout is L shaped and offers four double bedrooms. The principal room sits out over the original garage and offers great privacy to one end of the house with ensuite shower facilities. A further family bathroom splits the space to the second bedroom that overlooks the rear garden and beyond, this also benefits from an ensuite shower room and built in wardrobes. The other two bedrooms are both very good sized doubles, one overlooking the rear and the other to the front. There should be little arguing with family members for the biggest rooms as all are of good size.

Externally the garden is one of this homes major selling points. With its sizeable garden screened with woodland offering privacy and social patios, including a fabulous deck that overlooks a stream to the edge of the golf course beyond. Steps lead down to the stunning entertainment summer house that offers a private getaway, a bar and sunken hot tub. Warmed in the winter months with the feature wood burning stove and open to a great terrace with bifolding doors looking out over the golf course. A great space to entertain friends and family or spend evenings watching the tv whilst relaxing in the tub.

The garage has been converted to provide even more space, currently used as a mixture of a gym/dance studio and storage with access to the front and rear. The driveway also benefits from an EV charger. Parking is provided by a good sized drive and additional road parking opposite should this be required.
