Description

Aireview Farm represents an exciting and increasingly rare opportunity to acquire a traditional Grade II listed farmstead in pretty much its original unaltered form retaining charm, character and a number of interesting original features including mullion windows and an Inglenook style fireplace.

The property offers huge potential in terms of refurbishment and redevelopment with scope to extend into all or part of the stone barn, subject to planning and listed buildings approval.

The adjacent 6.5 acres of land not only provides control and security over the immediate surroundings but will appeal to those with equestrian or hobby farming interests.

Farmhouse

The house is entered into a hallway with quarry tiled floor and a beam and boarded ceiling. There is a separate under stairs store. A step down from the hall gives access to a generous through living room with an open fire in a painted surround with a cast iron inset and beams to the ceiling. Across the hall from the living room is the snug/dining room the focal point of which is the exposed stone inglenook style fireplace with bread oven to one side and various alcoves. A solid fuel stove has been incorporated with back boiler providing basic heating. There are stairs to the first floor. Beyond the snug/dining room is a lean-to kitchen with work surface, base units, stainless steel sink and electric cooker point. Feature alcove.

The first floor landing with beams and mullion window gives way to a bathroom and three bedrooms. The bathroom has a cast iron bath, w.c with high level system and a bracket wash basin. Beamed ceiling and mullion window. Bedroom 1 has a shower cubicle with electric shower unit, fitted wardrobes and a built in cupboard. Bedroom 2 has access to loft storage space and Bedroom 3 at the back of the house has a roof light.

Outside

Adjoining the house is a substantial stone barn with the main body of the building open full height to the roof. To one side of the barn opening is a separate stable box with office/store above. To the other side is a workshop and store with loft over.

In front of the barn is a useful yard area providing plenty of parking with a path leading in front of the house and kitchen to a large garden area with a super outlook over the neighbouring farmland and countryside beyond.
