The property is also convenient to the M50, leading to the M5 and A40 dual carriage way link to the M4. ## Description

Originally commissioned by Sir James Rankin, an international shipping and trade magnate who inherited the Bryngwyn estate; in 1868 he built himself in the words of the time 'a magnificent mansion delightfully situated and commanding one of the most extensive views in Herefordshire and perhaps one of the finest landscapes in England'. It was here, Sir James brought up his family, and became one of Herefords largest private benefactors.

During the war the army were stationed at Bryngwyn; indeed Italian POW's were housed there and worked on nearby farms and in the construction of the Church at Hoarwithy.

It is grade II listed and in recent years has been extensively and painstakingly restored retaining the fabulous original features including many marble columns, wooden doors and floors, stone archways, stained glass windows and gargoyles and now provides luxury apartment living in the central section with the East and West wings providing spacious beautifully appointed family homes with large private gardens.

The East wing itself offers spacious and luxuriously appointed accommodation with five bedrooms, including a ground floor bedroom suite. Beautiful views are available from all principal rooms over the private gardens, landscaped communal gardens and car parking area, towards The Black Mountains, Hereford and beyond.

The East Wing enjoys large private gardens which adjoin the main communal gardens to Bryngwyn Manor, with allocated car parking, garaging and several useful storage buildings.
