(Distances are approximate)

A striking country house of some considerable appeal standing proud to a 'Parkland' setting of around six acres. This Grade II listed Georgian home sits well back from the passing road and provides an exceptionally wide range of accommodation including three large principal reception rooms, garden room and four double bedrooms. There is further accommodation including a converted barn thoughtfully transformed into a three bedroom self-contained dwelling, and a further barn converted to home office and recreation room/gym. This home would be ideal for multi generation living or Airbnb for additional income if desired. There is garaging for many vehicles, workshops and storage. Outside the grounds provide attractive formal gardens, woodlands with mowed pathways, paddocks and lake making a most enchanting setting. Sibsey features a village hall, a post office with shop, a public house called the White Hart, and the Grade I listed Sibsey Trader Mill. Additionally, St. Margaret's Church with a community library is a key part of the village. The village is known for community events held at the Village Hall, the area also has a primary school and is a peaceful, family-friendly environment. The larger market town of Boston with its traditional high street brands and supermarkets is approximately five miles. A viewing of this substantial country home is highly recommended to fully appreciate the setting, versatility and size of accommodation on offer.
