HISTORIC MALVERN

A creative place for relaxation and inspiration

Quintessentially English, steeped in culture and history, Malvern is the inspiration for Tolkien's Middle Earth, C.S. Lewis' Narnia, and Elgar's music. A designated area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, with the hills and the gently winding backstreets, famed for the healing properties of its spring water, Malvern has long been a site of inspiration for residents and visitors alike.

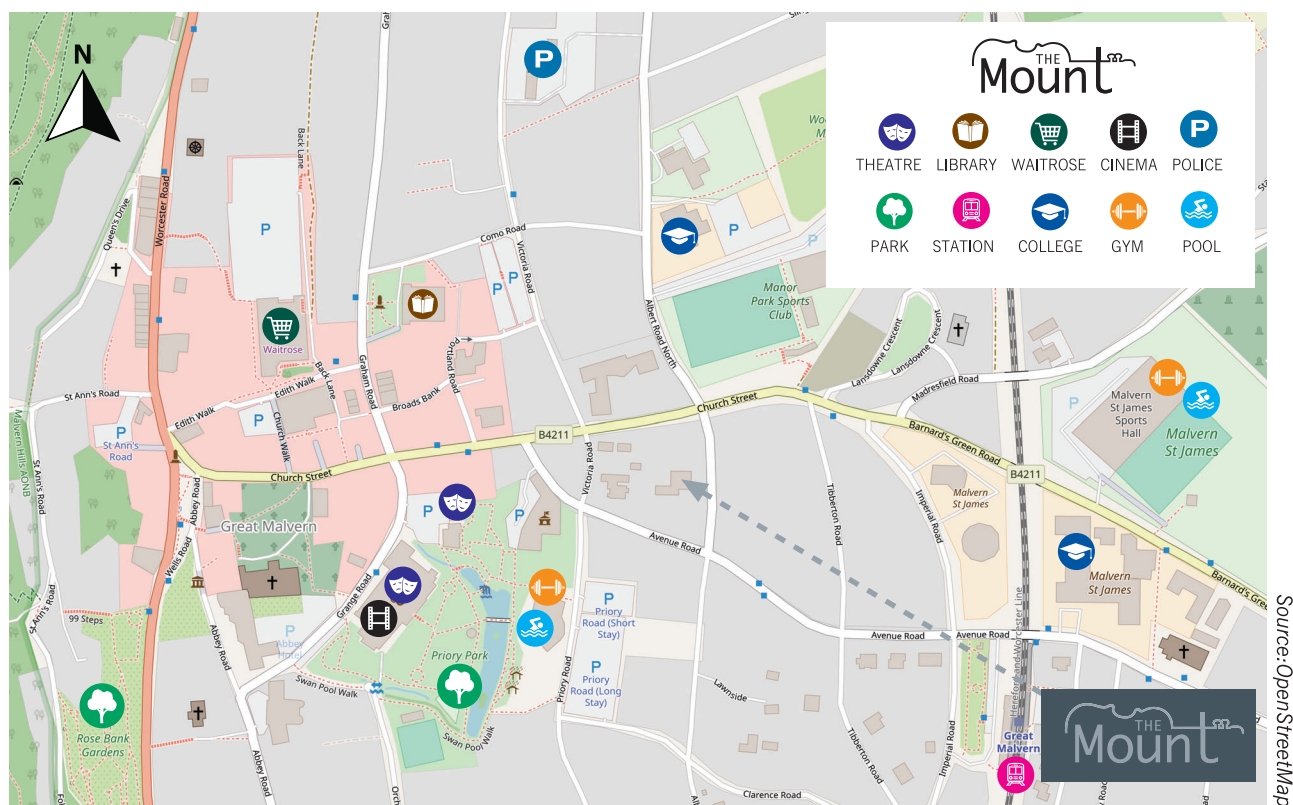

The Mount is a beautiful historic building on one of Malvern's premier residential streets. For over 150 years the building served as an international boarding school, and in his early career the composer Edward Elgar is known to have taught violin to the students at this property.
