LOCATION

The village of Llansantffraid is a thriving village with a School, Doctors Surgery, Restaurants, Hotel, Public House and shops and is within easy reach of arterial roads.

Llansantffraid-ym-Mechain is a village, in Powys close to the border with Shropshire in England. The village is on the A495 road and is at the confluence of the River Vyrnwy and the Afon Cain. Llansantffraid means "Church of Saint Bride" in the Welsh language and "ym-Mechain" refers to its location in the medieval cantref of Mechain which distinguishes it from other places in Wales with the same or similar names.

The market town of Oswestry provides a good range of shopping and leisure facilities and affords easy access to the A5 trunk road which allows daily travelling to Shrewsbury and Telford to the South and Wrexham, Chester and the Wirral to the Northwest.
