Outdoor space

Good size front and rear gardens that are well stocked with slate gravel paths, timber shed and kennel. There is an additional piece of ground (36m x 14m) that is on an elevated plot to the rear of the property with panoramic views and would be a great place for a polytunnel, summerhouse or ground mounted solar panels.

Location

Easdale Island is a place to live like no other. With its flooded quarries, paths which wind through brambles and sloes and "fool's gold" speckled slate beaches the landscape is shaped by the bygone quarrying industry which roofed the world. Home to approximately fifty people, Easdale Island has a vibrant community of all ages. A family friendly place with a primary school in Ellenabeich, and a secondary school in Oban, there is also a community hall and a pub/tea room. The island hosts the annual World Stone Skimming Championships each September. Mooring is available in the harbour for private boats and the island is ideal for water activities including wild swimming. Such activities can provide wonderful opportunities to catch a glimpse of the local wildlife which includes porpoises, dolphins, whales, and seals. For the more land loving, there are otters, weasels and a variety of sea birds. With no cars the island is five-star accommodation for dogs and cats!
