Completed in 2012, the house has been in single ownership since. The approach is up a brick drive where you'll park in a double garage with automatic doors. White render and a double height bay window in white brick form the handsome asymmetric frontage of this cross-gabled building. Entirely detached and set back from the road, first impressions are of space, light and tranquillity.

Step Inside

A bracketed canopy provides cover while you enter the central hallway. Light streams through this south-facing, part-glazed entrance and is reflected by smooth pale ceramic flooring here and in the kitchen. Underfloor heating throughout the ground floor – and the associated absence of radiators – enhances the elegance of these spaces as well as being very efficient. To your left is a large sitting room which runs the depth of the house. Triple aspect, with a set of bi-fold doors to the garden and lime-washed oak flooring, this is an expansive and calm environment and large enough for the whole family to gather in comfort. An unfussy fireplace in pale stone houses a wood-burning stove for a cosy focus on winter nights. Across the hall is an alternative sitting room, almost as big and with a wide south-facing bay window which captures sunlight all day long.

Heart of the Home

At the back of the house is the kitchen-diner, very much the centre of operations and a room you won't in the least mind being stuck in. Here is everything the up-to-date chef needs – a range cooker with electric hob and two ovens, a built-in microwave, yards of Corian worktops including a large sit-up island and, chef's perks, a wine fridge.

KEY FEATURES

Directly off the kitchen is a well set up utility which doubles as overflow kitchen space. Bi-fold doors form a glass wall which permits beautiful views right down the garden and over the arable land behind. The room easily accommodates, as it does currently, a sofa as well as a circular table. It will, therefore, easily allow an 10-seat rectangular dining table and, with all the doors open to the terrace, will be a truly wonderful spot for summer suppers. Also downstairs is a WC, a coat cupboard and a large pantry adjacent to the kitchen.

Exploring Upstairs

On the first floor, you'll have a choice of master suites, both with built-in wardrobes and en-suite shower rooms. Two further double bedrooms across the landing are served by a family bathroom with shower stall and tub.

Step Outside

What with the uninterrupted views to the rear, you'll feel connected to this lovely landscape all year round but in summer with all the bi-folds open this is a spot you'll want to leave rarely, if ever. A rose-covered arch draws the eye down the garden, through the fence and over the countryside beyond. The owners love watching the harvest being brought in. What was, when they bought the property, a blank canvas has been planted up with 23 different trees and shrubs, now maturing nicely, including Pride of India, hazel, photina, holm oak, liquid amber, spindle, apple, plum and cutleaf Alder. A favourite spot for anybody residing at or visiting the house is a bioclimatic pergola in the lee of two rear elevations. This splendid construction, with halogen heaters, lights and movable slats to provide shelter from rain, really is the last word in outdoor living. There is also a large potting shed and a smaller tool shed.
