The village location is wonderful and people here will give you a warm welcome, so this is a great place to put down roots and feel at home in the glorious Suffolk countryside.

Classic Cottage Character

The property dates back to around 1650 but isn't listed. When the current owner and her husband came here in 1985, the cottage needed a lot of work to bring it back to its best. The owner's brother was a builder specialising in period properties, so he embarked on renovation works for the owner and finished everything to an impeccably high standard, using traditional materials and craftsmanship. Here you can see that everything has been finished beautifully and maintained carefully to stand the test of time. The result is that 40 years down the line the cottage comes to the market in move-in condition, there's no work that needs to be done – unusual in a property of this age.

Welcome Home!

You'll find the entrance tucked away to the side of the cottage. Step through the porch into the main hall and you'll have access to both staircases and to all the ground floor rooms. The kitchen looks out to the front. A high quality, farmhouse-style kitchen, there's room here for a breakfast table. Also looking out to the front is a spacious reception room with a log burner in the original fireplace. The wonderful oak beams and exposed timber frame add great character and enhance the room's cosy charm.

KEY FEATURES

The reception is part open to a further reception room that's even more generously proportioned and has room for both seating and dining. Again, there's a wealth of oak timbers here and you also have a door to the garden and views over the terrace and lawn. Another door takes you back into the hall for easy access to the kitchen. There's a shower room comprising a shower, sink and WC that completes the ground floor accommodation. Upstairs you have a generous and attractive master bedroom with a vaulted ceiling and lots of built-in storage, plus a smaller double bedroom at the rear of the cottage, the two sharing a family bathroom. Up the other staircase is what is currently a study but could also be used as a bedroom with a few simple tweaks.

Exploring Outside

Within the plot there's a single garage with an attached workshop, which makes a great hobby space. It's separated from the main part of the garden by hedging, which enhances the lovely green outlook from the house. It's clear that the garden has been well loved over the years and has been thoughtfully planted. There is colour and interest throughout the seasons and you're nice and private too. The owner has created several different seating areas to make the most of the light and shade throughout the day and from which to enjoy each area of the garden. The terrace is very sheltered, so it's a lovely place in which to relax. You have a number of pretty period properties along the road here, so it's an attractive setting all round.

The cottage is located in the heart of this friendly village, just two minutes walk from the village store by the village pond and less than five minutes walk from the pub which serves very good quality food. There's also an excellent medical centre down the road. When you need to go further afield, you'll find you're spoilt for choice here, with a number of nice villages and charming market towns nearby, not forgetting the coast. The owner has spent many a happy afternoon at the beach, watching ships come and go from the port at Felixstowe, walking along the shoreline or tucking into fish and chips.
