The Location

Kings Langley, a village in Hertfordshire, lays claim to an extraordinary history. From its origins prior to Roman settlement and thriving Domesday community, through its Royal Palace in the 14th Century to a wealth of transport connections, farming and industry, the village can recount tales matched by few other places in the U.K. Situated on the southern edge of the Chiltern Hills and approximately 20 miles from the centre of London, Kings Langley is the perfect location for those seeking an area with excellent road and rail links yet the peace and tranquillity of a traditional Hertfordshire village. Kings Langley is split between the two local authorities of Dacorum and Three Rivers. Kings Langley is ideal for commuting into London by both rail and road. The M25, M1 and A41 are on your doorstep whilst Kings Langley train station is only a short walk or drive away. From Kings Langley station you can be in central London in approximately 30 minutes.

Historic Kings Langley

Kings Langley was the birth-place of Edmund of Langley, 1st Duke of York (1341-1402), 4th surviving son of King Edward III (grandson of Edward I), whose tomb survives in All Saints Church. The body of King Richard II, eldest grandson and successor of King Edward III, was buried here after his probable murder at Pontefract Castle in 1400. It was later removed to Westminster Abbey, next to the Palace of Westminster. During the Second World War, the village was home to the secret headquarters in Britain of the Polish Underground army based at Barnes Lodge just off the Hempstead Road near Rucklers Lane.
