This semi-detached cottage on Gisburn Road, Blacko, offers great potential but requires a complete refurbishment, making it an exciting project for those looking to create their dream home. With two bedrooms and an additional study or office, the property has plenty of space for flexible living arrangements once updated.

The layout includes a lounge that flows into the dining area and kitchen, all of which are in need of modernisation. This offers a blank canvas for new owners to redesign the space to suit their style. The cottage also features a cellar, providing additional storage or the possibility of converting it into a more functional room.

Outside, the garden presents a wonderful opportunity to create a charming outdoor space, although it too will benefit from attention. The property comes with a garage and a driveway, providing practical off-road parking.

Set in the picturesque village of Blacko, the cottage offers countryside views and peaceful surroundings. Despite the need for renovation, this property has the potential to become a beautiful home in a sought-after location, combining the charm of rural living with the convenience of modern updates once fully refurbished.
