Packington is a charming and sought-after village that provides an idyllic setting for family living. Nestled within the picturesque countryside of Leicestershire, this tranquil location offers a perfect balance of rural serenity and convenient amenities. The village itself boasts a welcoming community feel, with a range of local facilities such as a well-regarded primary school, a traditional English pub, and a quaint village hall that regularly hosts community events. For those who enjoy outdoor activities, the surrounding countryside offers numerous walking and cycling opportunities, making it perfect for nature enthusiasts.

Despite its peaceful setting, Packington is conveniently located close to the historic market town of Ashby-de-la-Zouch. Here, you will find a variety of shops, boutiques, and supermarkets to cater to everyday needs, as well as a selection of cafes, restaurants, and pubs offering a range of dining experiences. The town is also known for its impressive Ashby Castle and the beautiful Ashby Bath Grounds, which provide cultural and recreational activities for the whole family.

The area is well-connected with excellent transport links, making commuting straightforward for those working further afield. Both the M42 and A42 are easily accessible, offering routes to major cities such as Birmingham and Nottingham. East Midlands Airport is also within a short drive, providing connectivity to a range of domestic and international destinations, which is beneficial for professionals who travel frequently.

Education is a highlight of the area, with the local primary school in Packington and several esteemed secondary schools and colleges in Ashby-de-la-Zouch and beyond. This ensures children receive high-quality education from early years through to higher education. Furthermore, the community in Packington is known for being very supportive, enhancing the overall family-friendly environment.
