Stansted Mountfitchet is a historic village that dates back to the Roman era. It is recognized by its large windmill, which can be seen throughout Stansted and was constructed in 1878.

This village is most known for the Mountfitchet Castle, where this historic site dates back to the Iron Age and was then used as a Roman signals fort, Saxon town, and Viking stronghold. It was eventually attacked by William the Conqueror in 1066. The only wooden Motte and Bailey reconstruction on its original site anywhere in the world, Mountfitchet Castle underwent extensive restoration that culminated in its public opening in 1985.

Also, within reaching distance is London Stansted Airport, which is one stop away on the train, or just a 10-minute bus journey. Despite the close proximity to the airport, Stansted is one of the only places within the surrounding area that has no flight paths, enhancing its quiet and picturesque village atmosphere.

The village has grown larger in size over recent years and is becoming an ever-popular location for families and commuters alike, as its fantastic transport links are complemented by its quaint shops and boutiques. The appeal is enhanced as Stansted is only 3 miles from the market town of Bishops Stortford which offers a large indoor shopping centre, many restaurants and bars and a weekly market within its high street, encapsulation and promoting the areas historical roots.
