LOCATION

Neighbouring Kings Stanley is situated immediately west of Stroud, the main town in this part of the Cotswolds. A very ancient village referenced in the Domesday Book, Kings Stanley has grown over the years but very much retains its own identity and is surrounded by farmland. The village has good local facilities including a convenience store, a Co-op, The Rest cafe, Village Hall and a popular primary school.

Almost anything else can be obtained in the nearby towns of Stonehouse and Stroud which has a large Waitrose and three other supermarkets and an award winning Farmers' Market. Both also have a wide range of independent retailers. Within about two hours of London by car or 90 minutes from both Stonehouse or Stroud's mainline stations. Selwyn Close is also ideally located for accessing the M5 at junction13 (Bristol or the West Midlands).

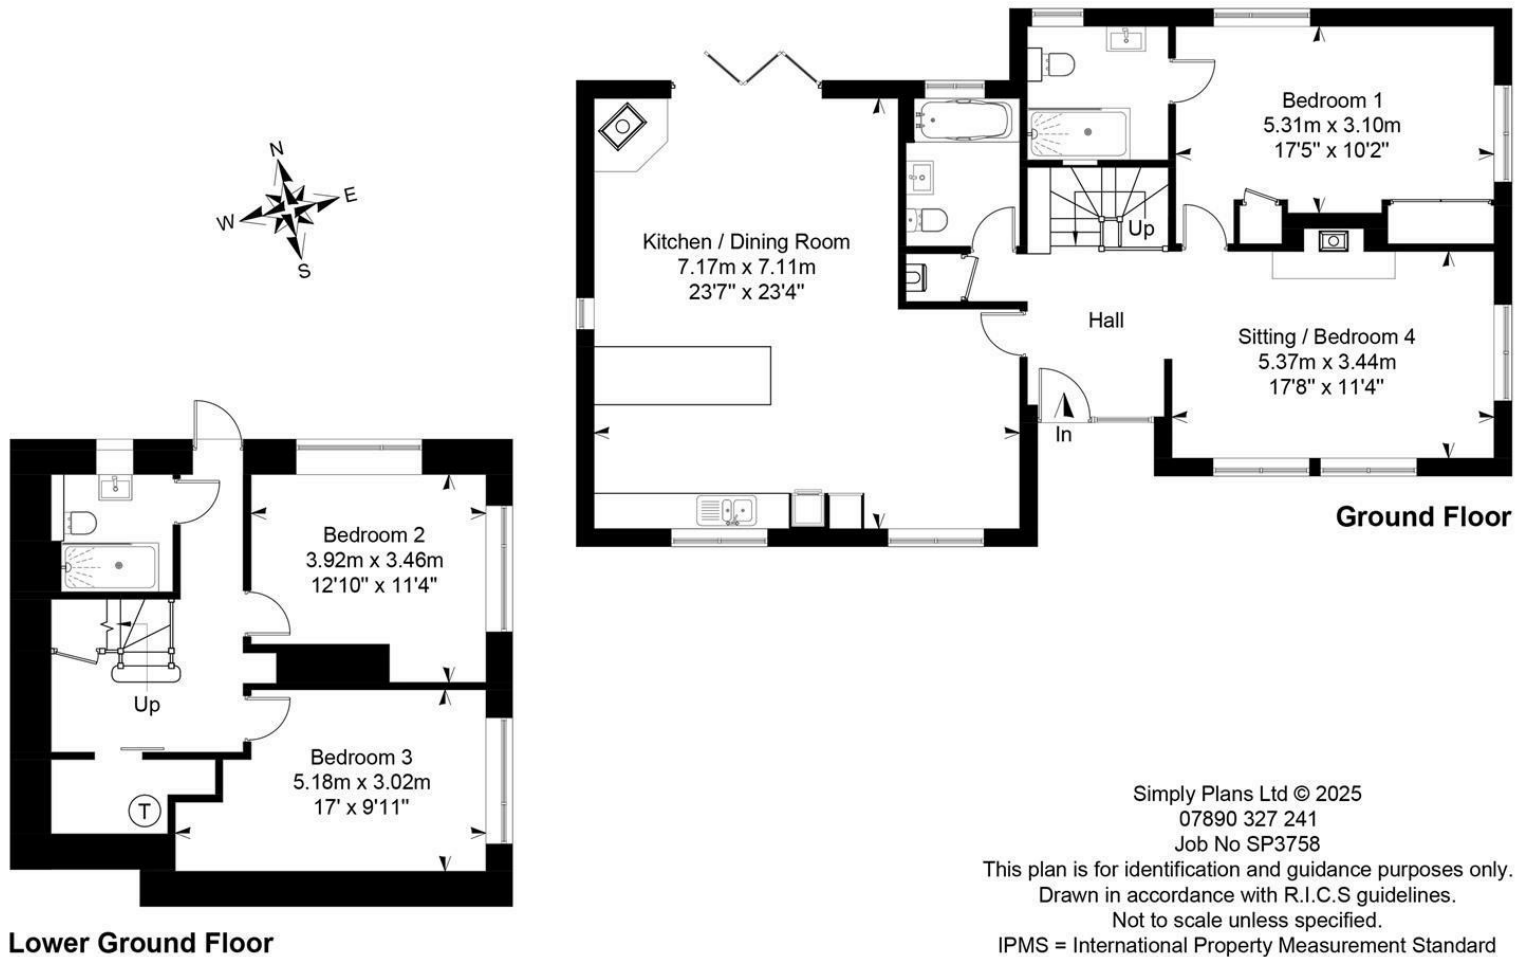

The local countryside is criss-crossed by public footpaths, including The Cotswold Way, the lanes are popular with cyclists and for golfers there are a number of challenging courses in the vicinity. Kings Stanley has its own sports club with active junior sections while there is a good choice of secondary schools locally including The High and Marling in Stroud (both grammar schools) and Wycliffe College, just down the road at Stonehouse.
