DESCRIPTION

Dating back to the 1860's, this imposing detached Victorian residence, originally built by a former timber merchant, now stands proudly within its gated grounds as one of the most prestigious homes in the area. Until around 1944, much of the surrounding land was owned by the Berkeley Estate before passing into private hands. Today, Cambridge House offers substantial accommodation arranged over three floors, perfectly blending period elegance with generous living space.

A most impressive entrance hall, with wide proportions and polished wooden floors, has played host to many a social gathering. From here, all principal rooms are accessed, with the kitchen/breakfast room forming the heart of the home, featuring a traditional tessellated tiled floor and a gas-fired AGA. This kitchen is a dream for any keen cook with a walk-in pantry and a separate utility/back kitchen with access to the original Dairy. Three equally grand reception rooms, each with ornate cornicing, period fireplaces, sash windows and original window shutters, offer both elegance and flexibility of use. A Victorian-style conservatory or orangery, complete with two established grapevines, extends the living space beautifully. A useful cloakroom completes the ground floor.

The deceptively spacious L-shaped first floor has five well-proportioned bedrooms, each with a feature fireplace and a garden view, together with three bathrooms. On the second floor, you will find three interconnecting attic rooms and an additional bedroom, perfect for storage or easily adaptable for additional accommodation.

An old Dairy is connected to the house with two rooms (one previously used to store and keep food cool) and the other now a handy workshop. Detached from the house yet within the same grounds, an old coach house retains many of the features from when it was once used to store the coach and horses with the original cast iron feeding trough still in place today.

The level grounds of around 1.5 acre surround Cambridge House with neatly placed seating areas dotted around amongst an array of garden and wooded areas where beech trees and Californian redwood trees stand proudly screening the house. The garden offers something for everyone with level lawns, kitchen garden with strawberries, raspberries, asparagus beds and sweetcorn to name but a few, together with two greenhouses containing tomatoes. For pleasure, the extensive lawns create an ideal area for any size family.

DIRECTIONS

From Stroud take the Cainscross Road out towards Stonehouse and at the Cainscross roundabout take the 1st exit and at the next one, go straight over and then turn right at the next one by Sainsbury's along the bypass and onto the Bristol Road out towards the M5. Go straight over the motorway and at the next roundabout, turn left towards Bristol on the A38 travelling for about 2.5 miles and on reaching Cambridge, turn left on to the old Dursley Road, where the entrance to the property can be found on the right hand side.

LOCATION

The hamlet of Cambridge sits on predominantly level lands to the south-west of Stroud within the Severn Vale and has a popular local pub serving home cooked food daily. Nearby Slimbridge is home to the renowned Wildfowl and Wetlands Trust, founded by Sir Peter Scott, and provides both a well-regarded primary school and scenic canal-sidewalks along the Gloucester & Sharpness Canal.

For everyday amenities, the village of Cam offers a range of independent outlets as well as a Tesco supermarket, GP and dental services, and a café. Just four miles away, the market town of Dursley provides a broader array of facilities including secondary schooling, supermarkets, independent shops and a variety of eating and leisure options. Golfers will appreciate proximity to the Stinchcombe Hill Golf Club.

Transport links are excellent, with convenient access to the M5/M4 corridor and the A38. Cam and Dursley railway station offers regular services to Gloucester, Cheltenham, and Bristol, while Stroud and Stonehouse stations provide direct routes to London Paddington.
