Stairs lead up to the first floor and to two of the bedrooms, the rear bedroom has a view of the river, castle and town of Chepstow from the window. The views continue into the contemporary family bathroom with the double-ended bath intentionally placed under the window so a soak in hot bubbles is joined by the remarkable view.

The top floor is dedicated to the primary suite that consists of a spacious bedroom with stunning views of the river and castle, together with an en-suite shower room.

STEP OUTSIDE

River Cottage is one of only a handful of lucky houses that share the uninterrupted and truly incredible view of the River Wye and the magnificent Chepstow castle at the end of their garden.

The front of the house benefits from parking for a number of vehicles and the potential to create more if the lawn was sacrificed for hard-standing. There's also a handy concrete storage shed.

But it's the rear of the house that is the most incredible area of the property. The south-facing rear garden deck offers a front row seat to watch the river meander past against the unique and charming backdrop of the majestic castle, popular town and old Wye Valley bridge.

There's a wooden bar at the end of the lawn plus a larger communal riverbank deck that has been constructed by all the owners of this small terrace of homes to maximise the connection to the river and sweeping views.

AGENT'S NOTE

We are led to believe that a previous survey mentioned the possibility that the property may have been subject to historic movement, however, we have not seen any survey report to substantiate this, and any prospective purchaser should make their own enquiries.
