Location

Rosudgeon is a quiet hamlet that lies slightly inland from one of Cornwall's most prized stretches of coast land - a brilliant base from which to access miles and miles of coastal paths and a plethora of beaches and coves within easy reach. Nearby Prussia Cove is particularly lovely, unspoiled and rich in smuggling history. The cove was once a favourite haunt of John Carter, known as the 'The King of Prussia' - who landed much of his loot on the beach. Today it is home to a small harbour and slipway, which is still used by the local fishermen. The beach is great for swimming and offers fantastic snorkeling opportunities as well as being dog friendly all year round. Rosudgeon offers good local amenities including the recently opened and well stocked Co-Op, a pub and large sports ground with social club where many activities take place. The property is also well placed for access to the A30, comprehensive day to day facilities and schooling options available in both nearby Penzance and Helston.

The property occupies a generous plot and the gardens have been meticulously presented by our clients. To the front elevation is a large driveway laid to loose stone providing off road parking for several vehicles, complimented with Cornish stone walling. Door opening into the integral garage. Gated access on both sides leads to the rear garden. The rear garden is a true delight and is one of the biggest selling points for the property. There is a good size patio area laid to paving tiles, with a Mediterranean garden laid to loose stone featuring a range of bushes, trees and plants. The large open lawn is a wonderful feature of the garden, complimented with mature hedging to the boundaries. There is an open fronted timber frame garden store providing storage for machinery and tools.
