A totally charming, Grade II listed, four bedroom, Georgian detached residence set in a prominent location, just off the Falmouth to Truro road at Perranarworthal and tucked away in a gated, mature garden backing onto the valley and established woodland beyond.

This highly individual character home was, we understand, built in the early 1830's as the Captains house for Perran Foundry (which is set behind the house) having pleasing mellow stone elevations and a classic original colonnaded open entrance porch and a smaller porch to the rear of the house.

This beautiful Grade II listed period home has been restored over a number of years with imagination and style, paying homage to the Georgian era with particular attention to detail and fusing an imaginative blend of retained character features, enhanced with the introduction of modern day themes and tones. Plenty of character awaits the new owners with many original features you would expect from a house of this calibre including large multi-paned sash windows, high skirting boards and ceilings, large panelled internal doors with architraves, wooden flooring, two marble fireplaces and a magnificent reception hall with turning staircase to the first floor.

As with similar homes built in the era, well proportioned accommodation is here in abundance, offering a generous reception hall, cloakroom/wc, living room, sitting room, kitchen/dining room, bedroom four with en-suite and a utility room. The first floor has an impressive landing, three large bedrooms (two en-suite) and a well appointed family bathroom. Outside, the gated driveway offers private parking and turning and a well screened south east facing garden backing onto woodland.

Woodview is well placed in this attractive hamlet, alongside the River Kennall which leads to the tidal creek at Devoran and access for water sports enthusiasts to the Restronguet Creek and the excellent sailing waters of the Carrick Roads.

The neighbouring village of Perranwell Station is twixt the larger centres of Truro and Falmouth and this has its own community run village store and The Royal Oak public house, primary school, well supported village hall, cricket and football clubs and also importantly, a branch line station linking to Falmouth and Truro.
