6 Ermine Street, Thundridge, Ware, Hertfordshire, SG12 0SY

A spacious detached bungalow occupying an elevated plot at the end of a long private drive with outstanding views over the village and valley beyond. The property has been extended over the years and now offers well presented and generously proportioned accommodation comprising of an entrance porch, good size reception hall, 2 large reception rooms, an extended kitchen, 3 good size bedrooms, a family bathroom and en-suite shower room. Externally, the property is located at the end of a privately owned drive with a detached double garage and an additional garage towards the bottom of the drive. The gardens are predominantly lawned and are south facing with well stocked boards and directly adjoin the attractive village church.

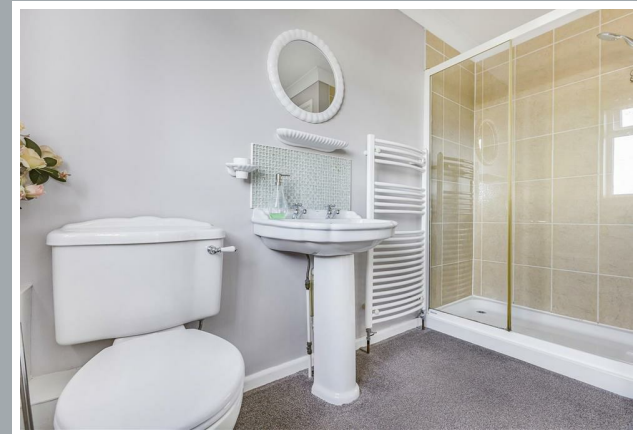

The property is located within a truly unique position, occupying an elevated plot accessed by a long private driveway just off of the idyllic Ermine Street. Ermine Street, which was originally part of the main coach road from London to Cambridge, however has been bypassed for many years. The village offers a village primary school, a village shop, popular pub The Feathers and is only a short drive from both Hertford and Ware.
