We have tried to make sure that these particulars are accurate but, to a large extent, we have to rely on what the seller tells us about the property. Once you find the property you want to buy, you will need to carry out more investigations into the property than it is practical or reasonable for an estate agent to do when preparing sales particulars. For example, we have not carried out any kind of survey of the property to look for structural defects and would advise any homebuyer to obtain a surveyor's report before exchanging contracts. If you do not have your own surveyor, we would be pleased to recommend one. We have not checked whether any equipment in the property (such as central heating) is in working order and would advise homebuyers to check this. You should also instruct a solicitor to investigate all legal matters relating to the property (e.g. title, planning permission, etc) as these are specialist matters in which estate agents are not qualified. Your solicitor will also agree with the seller what items (e.g. carpets, curtains, etc) will be included in the sale.

The Oak House, 15a Carew Road, Eastbourne, BN21 2JG

Occupying an elevated position within the Upperton district of Eastbourne, this detached character house built CIRCA 1936 is notable for its 'Art Deco' features and immaculate presentation. Arranged with four generous double bedrooms and two sizeable receptions, there is a fitted kitchen/breakfast room with granite worktops and adjoining pantry whilst a cloakroom, boiler room and 'gardeners washroom' are appealing inclusions. There is a stylish modern bath and shower room with separate wc and the delightful landscaped rear garden is secluded and enjoys a pleasant South Westerly aspect. This terraced garden has areas of lawn and patio and is well planted with many tropical trees and shrubs. There is gated side access and a 'front to back' workshop to the side. The single garage is at road level and includes a remote up and over door and water tap for car cleaning. Schools serving all age groups, Waitrose supermarket and local parks are all close by and the town centre with its mainline railway station, Beacon shopping centre and picturesque seafront is also within walking distance.
