We have tried to make sure that these particulars are accurate but, to a large extent, we have to rely on what the seller tells us about the property. Once you find the property you want to buy, you will need to carry out more investigations into the property than it is practical or reasonable for an estate agent to do when preparing sales particulars. For example, we have not carried out any kind of survey of the property to look for structural defects and would advise any homebuyer to obtain a surveyor's report before exchanging contracts. If you do not have your own surveyor, we would be pleased to recommend one. We have not checked whether any equipment in the property (such as central heating) is in working order and would advise homebuyers to check this. You should also instruct a solicitor to investigate all legal matters relating to the property (e.g. title, planning permission, etc) as these are specialist matters in which estate agents are not qualified. Your solicitor will also agree with the seller what items (e.g. carpets, curtains, etc) will be included in the sale.

21 Rowsley Road, Eastbourne, BN20 7XS

Located in the heart of Meads Village, this elegant and immaculately presented 'Regency' style detached house has four double bedrooms and features an integral double garage. Approached via a generous reception hallway, access is gained to the spacious sitting room where distant sea views can be enjoyed. The adjoining dining room leads into the refitted kitchen/breakfast room which boasts granite work surfaces, some integrated appliances, a utility section and walk in larder cupboard. This opens onto the delightful rear garden which has a sizeable patio area and lawn with surrounding borders featuring many shrubs and tropical plants. En suite facilities and built in wardrobes further compliment this most appealing home where a modern family bathroom/wc and a ground floor cloakroom are also included. Meads Village shops, the beautiful seafront, heritage down land and Beachy Head and the old fishing hamlet of Holywell are all close by. Eastbourne town centre with its mainline railway station, theatre and gallery district and mainline railway station is approximately half a mile distant.
