This stunning link-detached property is full of character and dates back to the original farmhouses of Main Street in Fulford. Well placed to York city centre as well as good transport links, the railway station and varied local amenities, this location is highly sought after and with the property's set back nature through a private entrance off the main road, it is one of its kind.

A fantastic opportunity to be made into a much-loved home, the accommodation is well presented and has been much improved by the current owners. To the ground floor comprises a kitchen, which is in need of modernisation but provides plenty of space for well fitted units with appliances and white goods. Access to the family bathroom is off the kitchen but with the use of the current planning permission, this space could be drastically changed. A formal dining room is found on one side of the entrance hallway, with the large rooms this makes the perfect room for being a formal dining room. The current owner has rebuilt the bay windows with wooden double-glazed windows which align with the original build. An open fire is also present meaning this room could very easily become a cosy living room if the new owner wanted to reconfigure the ground floor accommodation. The other side of the entrance hallway is the lounge, it's fireplace is blocked up but with access into the idyllic garden area, the space is both bright and airy.

Making your way up the staircase, we then find two large double bedrooms, of which one provides both a shower and WC.

Externally, the property benefits from an extremely private, south facing garden and patio area. Outbuildings are also available for external storage which completes the property.

Planning permission is also available for both sides of the property, more information on this will be readily available for viewings or found online.

Due to its unique nature, this property is sure to be popular and so early viewing is highly recommended.
