About the property

Presenting to the market a property with vast potential and must be viewed internally to appreciate the scope. The accommodation briefly comprises an entrance hallway leading to a spacious lounge, where a picture window frames stunning sea views. A gas flame stove is set within an exposed stone chimney breast, complemented by visible ceiling beams and French doors opening into the conservatory, which overlooks the side garden. The dining room, also enjoying sea views, features a gas log-effect fire flanked by porthole windows and exposed brick walls, separated from the kitchen by built-in dresser units. The kitchen itself offers a range of fitted pine units, integrated Neff oven with gas hob, and space for appliances.

Two double bedrooms, both with picture windows capturing coastal vistas, offer ample storage, with one featuring an ornate cast iron fireplace. A third bedroom overlooks the rear garden, housing a Worcester gas-fired central heating boiler and airing cupboard. The fourth, a dual-aspect room, enjoys garden views and fitted wardrobes. The large family bathroom includes a white four-piece suite with marble-effect splashback panelling, while a separate shower room/WC features a mains-powered shower. A fully floored attic room with power and lighting presents exciting conversion potential, subject to the necessary permissions.
