Seller Insight

“5 Priestfields has been our much-loved home for the past 13 years. What first drew us to it was the combination of its location and generous size, which suited our growing family perfectly at the time. The house itself has a unique heritage, built by the Paymaster of the Navy, and the boat-shaped site has always felt like a charming and fitting detail.”

“My favourite space is the lounge, which feels like the true heart of the home. My husband’s favourite is his music room which is in the annex. Together, these rooms reflect our personalities we love spending time in them - although we have thoroughly enjoyed every room within the house.”

“We’ve hosted charity opera evenings in our garden, with over 100 people gathered, and the views over the river provided the most stunning backdrop. As a keen gardener, I’ve found great happiness in tending it.”

“This home has always been perfect for entertaining, with a natural flow that makes it easy to gather family and friends. Over the years it has been the setting for barbecues, Christmas celebrations, and many special occasions - there has always been plenty room for everyone.”

“The community here is equally special. We’ve lived in the area since the 1980s and have always loved the vibrancy of Rochester. The schools are excellent, there is always plenty to get involved in, and the warmth of the local people has been such a blessing. From the wonderful bowling club that attracts visitors from far and wide, to the many societies and events, there is something here for everyone. It has always felt welcoming, and I have never once felt lonely.”

“What we will miss most when we leave are the garden, the space, and the privacy this home has given us. We aren’t leaving the area - which speaks volumes about how much we love it here - we are simply ready to downsize. This has been a beautiful family home, filled with happy memories. We’ve enjoyed it to the fullest, and now it is time for the next chapter.”*
