An exceptionally decorated four-bedroom Victorian terraced house awaits on a highly desirable street, showcasing tremendous kerb appeal.

The delightful through-reception room boasts a beautiful bay window with recently installed wooden double-glazed sash windows, which are also featured on the ground and first floors. This room retains its original wooden floorboards and offers an elegant focal point in the form of a DEFRA-approved Charnwood wood-burning stove. Stripped original pine doors flow throughout the first floor, enhancing the home's period charm.

At the heart of the home is a bespoke Shaker kitchen with luxurious quartz worktops and stylish DeVOL taps. Experience the warmth of engineered wooden flooring with underfloor heating, alongside views of the southwest-facing rear garden, where a Scandinavian redwood shed provides ample storage.

The first floor maintains character with original wooden floorboards and stripped pine doors. The principal bedroom is a sanctuary, offering two large sash windows, built-in storage and comfortable carpeting. The second bedroom includes an original fireplace and built-in storage. The family bathroom features stripped floorboards, Moroccan-tiled walls and built-in storage.

The well-designed loft conversion offers two additional bedrooms – the larger benefiting from eaves storage and inviting skylights – plus a WC and sink, providing flexible living options.

Residents enjoy a peaceful, no-through-traffic road within a welcoming community, ideal for young families. You'll love having the magnificent Wetlands and Marshes right on your doorstep. Local highlights include the popular Coppermill pub, Walthamstow Pumphouse Museum, and Weir Dough bakery. Commuting is a breeze, with St James Street Overground and Blackhorse Road stations just a short walk away, offering easy connections to Central London and beyond. Families will appreciate the highly-rated Coppermill Primary School, just a five-minute walk from home.
