A photograph of a residential property, likely a semi-detached house, with a light-colored brick exterior and a dark tiled roof. A large white conservatory with a glass roof is attached to the front of the house. The garden in front is paved with large, light-colored square tiles. To the right of the conservatory is a green wooden shed with a gabled roof and a yellow padlock on its door. Various potted plants and shrubs are visible in the garden. The sky is overcast.
