History

In 1936 the grand Victorian West Bank Hall, with its farm and original 300 acres of land, was sold by local squire Charles Weddell to the historic Land Settlement Association: this innovative socio-economic scheme established the West Bank locality as a centre for market gardening. In the 1980s West Bank reverted to private ownership, the Hall housing an independent school at one stage, before returning to being a private home. West Bank Hall stands as a central landmark of this rural enclave.
