Treworthal

Treworthal is a pretty and unspoilt rural hamlet, located centrally in the Roseland Peninsula, an area of outstanding natural beauty, with many beautiful walks on the doorstep. Around 1.5 miles distant is the stunning coastline including a number of sandy beaches and boatyards. There are popular primary schools in the nearby villages of Gerrans, Veryan, St Mawes and Tregony, which also has an Ofsted rated 'excellent' secondary school. Treworthal is near the village of Philleigh with its Parish church and the well-known 'Roseland Inn' pub. Just over 3 miles away is the King Harry Ferry, which provides convenient access to Falmouth and the south-west of the county. Other nearby scenic attractions include the nature reserve at the saltings at Ruan Laniorne.
