We have tried to make sure that these particulars are accurate but, to a large extent, we have to rely on what the seller tells us about the property. Once you find the property you want to buy, you will need to carry out more investigations into the property than it is practical or reasonable for an estate agent to do when preparing sales particulars. For example, we have not carried out any kind of survey of the property to look for structural defects and would advise any homebuyer to obtain a surveyor's report before exchanging contracts. If you do not have your own surveyor, we would be pleased to recommend one. We have not checked whether any equipment in the property (such as central heating) is in working order and would advise homebuyers to check this. You should also instruct a solicitor to investigate all legal matters relating to the property (e.g. title, planning permission, etc) as these are specialist matters in which estate agents are not qualified. Your solicitor will also agree with the seller what items (e.g. carpets, curtains, etc) will be included in the sale.

16 Middleton Drive, Eastbourne, BN23 6HD

A beautifully presented detached bungalow occupying an exceptional corner plot in the highly sought after Langney Point area, just moments from the seafront. Presented in immaculate condition throughout, this impressive home boasts wonderfully maintained and landscaped gardens that wrap around the property, creating a real sense of space and privacy. Internally, the accommodation is equally impressive, featuring a modern fitted kitchen, contemporary shower room, separate WC and a superb conservatory with a solid roof, providing a comfortable additional reception space that can be enjoyed all year round. The principal bedroom benefits from an adjoining versatile room, currently used as a sewing room, which would equally make an ideal dressing room, walk in wardrobe, nursery or home office. Further advantages include a double width brick laid driveway and a garage that has been cleverly adapted to provide useful utility space alongside storage. Conveniently located close to the seafront, Sovereign Harbour, Langney Shopping Centre, local amenities and regular bus routes, this is a rare opportunity to acquire a substantial bungalow in one of Eastbourne's most desirable coastal locations.
