SULLY

I myself moved to Sully nearly 5 years ago and absolutely love the slowed down vibes of living in a village. I will often go for an early morning run along the coastal path taking in the amazing sea views that Sully has to offer. Having local convenience stores in the village is also an added bonus.

My Dad loved his bungalow and we have happy memories of all the family enjoying barbecues and birthdays. He would spend hours looking after his garden ensuring it was immaculate and free of weeds. Dad had a three year maintenance plan to paint the whole bungalow outside to make sure that it always was in a good condition. He had a brilliant relationship with all the neighbours always willing to help out with anything he would always say just knock the door and I will help if I can.
