Summary

Garth View is a well-presented and highly flexible bungalow offering bright, modern accommodation with double-glazed windows throughout. The main open-plan kitchen and dining space features contemporary units, hard flooring and patio doors leading onto the front garden. The main bedroom benefits from an ensuite shower room and its own patio doors, while further rooms are arranged to show the versatility of the layout, including a bedroom currently used as a living room. A dedicated home office provides an ideal workspace and could also serve as an additional bedroom. The former wash room offers scope to create a cloakroom or utility, adding even more potential for future adaptation.

Property description

Garth View offers well-presented and adaptable accommodation, benefiting from double-glazed windows throughout, modern décor and a bright, spacious feel. The layout lends itself perfectly to a range of lifestyles, from family living to multi-use home working. The front door opens into a generous kitchen and dining space, fitted with contemporary units and worktops, space for appliances and a breakfast bar. Hard flooring runs throughout, giving the room a clean, modern finish. Patio doors open directly onto the rear garden, filling the room with natural light and providing an easy connection to the outside.

The property offers three comfortable bedrooms, each with a calm, neutral finish. The main bedroom is a standout feature, benefiting from its own ensuite shower room and patio doors opening onto the front garden — a private, peaceful spot to enjoy the morning sun. A second bedroom is a lovely double over looking the rear garden and a further bedroom currently arranged as a living room, clearly demonstrating how flexible the accommodation can be depending on the buyer's needs. The dog-grooming room works well as an additional bedroom, offering good floor space and bright décor with access to the garden. This space could also offer additional options to a buyer. A dedicated home office provides a quiet workspace, ideal for remote working or running a small business. Its size and layout also make it suitable for use as a fourth single bedroom, further highlighting the versatility of the property. The main bathroom is modern and neatly arranged with a bath and shower over and panelled walls offering a modern finish. The dog wash room offers excellent potential and could be reconfigured into a cloakroom, utility room, or additional shower room, depending on the buyer's requirements.

Gardens, grounds and parking

The gardens at Garth View are a real feature of the property, offering a peaceful, private setting with a lovely blend of usable space and established planting. To the rear, access from a side gate or from the property, the garden is thoughtfully arranged with gravelled seating areas, raised beds and well-tended shrubs, creating a low-maintenance yet beautifully presented outdoor space. There are several spots ideal for relaxing, dining or simply enjoying the sunshine, all enclosed by fencing and boundary walls for privacy. Mature planting, including small trees and shaped shrubs, adds colour and structure throughout the year, while the layout provides clear zones for entertaining, gardening or quiet enjoyment. The garden feels both sheltered and open, with views towards the surrounding hills giving a lovely sense of space. To the front, the property benefits from a lawned area with mature shrubs, a driveway offering generous parking, and leads up to the front door. To the back of the garden is a further store room that is ideal for gardening supplies etc.

To the side of the access lane is a further garden that is laid to lawn, it measures approximately 0.074 acres and offers buyers further space, vegetable plot or has the potentials for development, subject to necessary permission being obtained. To far end of the land is a timber garage with double doors that offers storage for vehicles and a parking area next door.

Location

Nestled on the England–Wales border, Knighton is a charming market town known for its friendly community, scenic surroundings and excellent access to the countryside. Set within the rolling hills of the Teme Valley and crossed by the famous Offa's Dyke Path, it offers a perfect blend of rural tranquillity and everyday convenience. The town provides a good range of independent shops, cafés and amenities, along with a train station connecting to wider routes. With beautiful walking trails, open views and a relaxed pace of life, Knighton appeals to those seeking a welcoming town with strong character and stunning natural landscapes.

Non-Standard construction

The bungalow is of a non traditional construction. Originally built as a timber frame building, additional insulation and a single brick skin were added externally in 2009. Purchasers are advised they need to seek advice from a financial advisor prior to viewing to see if they can obtain a mortgage.

Services

The property has all mains services connected with gas heating.
