Corner Cottage is a substantial and highly individual detached period home, believed to date from the Georgian era and formed from two original cottages to create a spacious and exceptionally versatile family home. Rich in character, the property retains a wealth of period features including exposed beams, decorative fireplaces and distinctive architectural detailing, complemented by thoughtful modern improvements.

The generous accommodation includes three reception rooms, fitted kitchen with adjoining conservatory, study, four bedrooms and two bath/shower rooms. Two separate staircases reflect the property's origins and provide particularly flexible accommodation for family, guests or older children, while the layout could also lend itself particularly well to potential holiday-let or Airbnb use, subject to any necessary consents.

Outside, beautifully established south-facing cottage gardens incorporate a private courtyard, mature planting and several seating areas, together with traditional brick and pantile outbuildings and off-road parking.

Entrance Hall & Dining Room

The distinctive entrance hall immediately introduces the individual nature of the property, with its unusual curved external wall and feature glazing creating an interesting architectural entrance. Carpeted underfoot, the entrance area opens naturally into the adjoining dining room, which provides generous space for family dining and entertaining.

Full of character, the dining room features attractive William Morris-style wall coverings together with a striking cast-iron open fireplace with decorative tiled inserts and timber surround, creating an impressive focal point. A distinctive arched display recess with fitted shelving adds further individuality, while practical Karndean flooring provides a contemporary finish. Conveniently positioned alongside the kitchen, the room forms a natural link between the principal living and cooking areas.

Kitchen & Conservatory / Breakfast Area

The fitted kitchen forms a practical and attractive hub to this part of the home, fitted with a comprehensive range of cream Shaker-style wall and base units complemented by dark work surfaces and tiled splashbacks. There is ample preparation and storage space together with a fitted oven and hob with extractor over, integrated dishwasher and under-counter refrigerator. Tiled flooring continues through the space, while exposed painted ceiling beams retain a sense of the property's cottage character.

The kitchen opens naturally into the adjoining conservatory, creating a particularly bright and versatile extension to the everyday living space. From this part of the accommodation there is also access to a useful ground-floor WC, conveniently positioned for everyday use.

Snug

Accessed directly from the kitchen, the snug provides a welcoming and more intimate reception space, ideal for relaxed everyday living. A traditional stove set within a recessed fireplace with brick detailing creates an attractive focal point, complemented by Karndean wood-effect flooring and a wide window providing plenty of natural light.

From the snug, a doorway leads into an inner hall, where the principal staircase rises to the main first-floor accommodation comprising three bedrooms and the family bathroom. This arrangement reflects the property's origins as two individual cottages and helps create a natural separation between the principal and secondary bedroom accommodation.

The characterful presentation continues upstairs, with carpeting and attractive William Morris wall coverings featuring throughout selected areas.

Bedroom One

Bedroom Two

Another attractive double bedroom with a wealth of character, most notably an ornate cast-iron fireplace providing a striking period focal point.

An unusual arched recess adds further individuality, while the room provides ample space for bedroom furniture.

Bedroom Three

A further bedroom providing useful and adaptable accommodation, suitable as a child's bedroom, guest room or additional home-working space.

Built-in storage provides additional practicality.

Family Bathroom

The family bathroom is bright and well presented, fitted with a white three-piece suite comprising panelled bath with glazed shower screen and shower over, pedestal wash hand basin and WC. Attractive metro-style tiling surrounds the bath and shower area, complemented by contrasting wall finishes and practical shelving. A window provides good natural light, while recessed ceiling spotlights complete the room.

Lounge

Positioned within the second cottage section of the house, the lounge is a particularly generous and characterful reception room, providing ample space for comfortable seating. Exposed timber ceiling beams, deep window sills and traditional timber doors reinforce the cottage character, while windows to two aspects provide plenty of natural light and lovely views over the courtyard garden.

The room is carpeted and incorporates a timber staircase rising independently to the fourth bedroom and adjoining shower room, an unusual arrangement which reflects the property's origins as two individual cottages and provides a useful degree of separation from the principal first-floor accommodation.

Study

Situated beyond the lounge, the study provides a useful and versatile additional room, currently arranged as a dedicated home office and ideal for those working from home. Carpeted and enjoying direct access to the attractive courtyard garden, the room benefits from a pleasant outlook and a good degree of separation from the principal living accommodation.

Its position and flexibility allow for a variety of alternative uses, such as a hobby room, occasional reception room or potentially other purposes depending upon individual requirements and subject to any necessary planning permissions or consents.

Bedroom Four with En-Suite

A separate timber staircase rising independently from the lounge leads to the fourth bedroom, positioned within the upper floor of the second cottage section. A good-sized and characterful double room, it benefits from its own en-suite shower room, creating a particularly useful degree of privacy and separation from the three principal bedrooms.

This self-contained arrangement is ideally suited to visiting guests, older children or extended family, providing them with their own comfortable sleeping and bathroom facilities whilst remaining part of the main home.

Outside

The gardens are a significant feature of Corner Cottage, providing an attractive and private setting entirely in keeping with the character of the house. Immediately adjoining the property is a charming courtyard garden, where traditional brickwork, established planting and seating areas create a sheltered space ideal for relaxing and entertaining. Beyond, the south-facing gardens are thoughtfully arranged with paved areas, mature trees and shrubs, colourful planted borders and established climbing plants, providing interest throughout the seasons. An attractive pergola creates a further focal point and an inviting additional seating area from which to enjoy the garden.

Traditional brick and pantile outbuildings sit naturally within the garden setting, adding further character whilst providing useful storage.

The property also benefits from off-road parking, completing the practical amenities of the home.
