THE PROPERTY

Positioned on historic Hailes Street just moments from the heart of Winchcombe, The Old Sudeley Arms is a magnificent 16th-century Grade II listed landmark offering an extraordinary 'town and country' lifestyle. Behind its striking timber-framed facade lies a home of immense historical prestige, perfectly pairing its vibrant town setting with breathtaking, far-reaching views to the Cotswold escarpment to the rear.

Formerly two distinct residences, the property boasts deceptively spacious accommodation rich in original architectural features, from flagstone flooring and exposed wall timbers to beautiful stonework. A central entrance hall leads to a principal sitting room on the left which has an impressive stone fireplace and a formal dining room on the right. Towards the rear, a lower-level snug/family room provides access to both a cellar and a lean-to, alongside a kitchen/breakfast room positioned to enjoy the garden outlook.

Spread across the upper storeys are five double bedrooms and four bathrooms (three ensuite), culminating in an upper-floor office area with easy access to a substantial attic space.
