This beautifully refurbished period cottage offers a rare opportunity to acquire a home that exudes charm, history and individuality just moments from the seafront.

Positioned within a conservation area, the property forms part of the town's earlier development, with origins believed to date back to the 19th century when this coastal stretch began to evolve from a small fishing settlement into a popular seaside destination. The cottage itself has been thoughtfully updated, famously by Nick Knowles and his team on the popular BBC television programme, to create a stylish home with both character and modern finishes.

An entrance hall leads through to the main reception space with ample room for seating, while the kitchen has been redesigned and offers plenty of storage and worktop space with kitchen island and seating around. To the rear, a bright half pitched conservatory acts as a great space for dining and enjoys a pleasant outlook over the raised courtyard garden.

Upstairs, the accommodation continues with three bedrooms, including the master bedroom with en-suite shower room. The remaining rooms are well presented and offer flexibility for family, guests or home working.

Externally, the south-facing courtyard garden provides a private and low-maintenance retreat, ideal for relaxing or entertaining in the warmer months.

Situated just moments from the seafront, Norfolk Place enjoys a particularly desirable position offering a peaceful atmosphere while remaining within easy reach of the town centre with its range of shops, cafés and everyday amenities including Littlehampton mainline railway station. A particular highlight nearby is Norfolk Gardens, a well-kept public space offering tennis courts, putting greens and attractive open areas, ideal for recreation and leisure. The beachfront and riverside walks along the Arun are also close at hand, providing a wonderful coastal lifestyle. The historic locations of Arundel and Chichester are within convenient reach, offering a wide selection of shopping, dining and cultural attractions along with excellent transport connections.

Homes with this combination of history, location and individuality are rarely available, making this a particularly special opportunity for buyers seeking something a little different by the coast. Viewing is highly advised to appreciate everything this property has to offer.
