DESCRIPTION

Stanmore in Bisley, Gloucestershire is a Grade II listed building that once operated as a restaurant and holds historical significance. Now classed as residential, this characterful property is offered to the market with no onward chain. This former restaurant-turned-residence exudes timeless charm and character. The ground floor welcomes you with a spacious sitting and dining room, anchored by a striking stone open fireplace that sets a warm and inviting tone. Adjacent lies a well-appointed kitchen breakfast room, perfect for casual meals and morning gatherings, complemented by a bar area and convenient WC. To the first floor, you'll find 3 comfortable bedrooms and a generously sized family bathroom, ideal for both family living and guest accommodation. The crowning jewel of the home is the top-floor master suite—a truly impressive retreat featuring exposed A-frame timbers that highlight the building's historic roots. This expansive suite offers distinct zones for sleeping, lounging, and dressing, all enhanced by extensive built-in wardrobes and a private ensuite shower room. One of the property's most invaluable assets is its rare provision for off-road parking—accommodating up to six vehicles side-by-side directly behind the property, a true luxury in Bisley where parking is quite limited. Outside, the garden is thoughtfully designed for low maintenance, framed by elegant stone borders that echo the property's rustic aesthetic. With its blend of period features, practical layout, and enviable location, this home offers a unique opportunity to enjoy village life in a setting rich with character and convenience. Whether as a family home or a peaceful retreat, it stands as a testament to Bisley's architectural heritage and enduring appeal.

Amenities

The village of Bisley is regarded as one of the most attractive in the area situated approximately 4 miles to the east of Stroud, high on the Cotswold hills with its own shopping and schooling facilities, two public houses and church, as well as the area being a particular feature set amidst the picturesque rolling Cotswold countryside. Further benefits include a community composting scheme and a community orchard. The location is also an advantage as all the major centres of the region such as; Gloucester, Cheltenham, Cirencester, Bath, Bristol and Swindon are all commutable via the M5/M4 motorway networks and mainline railway stations for London and Birmingham, ideally placed for an extensive range of educational, leisure and shopping facilities with excellent grammar schools for girls and boys, as well as nearby independent schools
