We have tried to make sure that these particulars are accurate but, to a large extent, we have to rely on what the seller tells us about the property. Once you find the property you want to buy, you will need to carry out more investigations into the property than it is practical or reasonable for an estate agent to do when preparing sales particulars. For example, we have not carried out any kind of survey of the property to look for structural defects and would advise any homebuyer to obtain a surveyor's report before exchanging contracts. If you do not have your own surveyor, we would be pleased to recommend one. We have not checked whether any equipment in the property (such as central heating) is in working order and would advise homebuyers to check this. You should also instruct a solicitor to investigate all legal matters relating to the property (e.g. title, planning permission, etc) as these are specialist matters in which estate agents are not qualified. Your solicitor will also agree with the seller what items (e.g. carpets, curtains, etc) will be included in the sale.

3 Bedroom 2 Reception 2 Bathroom

£460,000

129 Green Street, Eastbourne, BN21 1RS

A truly stunning three bedroom period residence, beautifully blending timeless architectural elegance with refined contemporary styling. Impeccably presented throughout, this exceptional home is rich in original character, with striking box bay windows to both the sitting room and principal bedroom, high ceilings and a wonderful sense of light and space. The elegant bay fronted sitting room flows seamlessly into a sophisticated dining room, creating a superb setting for both relaxed family living and stylish entertaining. To the rear, the beautifully appointed kitchen/breakfast room offers an abundance of storage and workspace and opens directly onto the garden, while a discreet ground floor cloakroom adds further convenience. The first floor is equally impressive, featuring a luxurious principal suite with a handsome box bay window and a sleek en-suite shower room, alongside two further well-proportioned bedrooms and a beautifully finished family bathroom. Outside, the property boasts a larger than average walled rear garden enjoying a prized south westerly aspect, with an expansive lawn and sunny terraces providing an idyllic backdrop for outdoor dining and summer gatherings. Enviably located just moments from the independent shops of Albert Parade, the charm of Motcombe Village and picturesque parks, this exquisite home also offers excellent access to highly regarded schools, transport links, the town centre, railway station and Eastbourne's iconic Victorian seafront.
