GLENDOWER, WATLEDGE, NAILSWORTH, STROUD, GL6 OAY

A RENOWNED THREE BEDROOM DETACHED
COTSWOLD STONE HOME, STEEPED IN HISTORY
AND ENJOYING MAGNIFICENT PANORAMIC VIEWS
IN AN EXCEPTIONAL SETTING.

The property

Occupying a generous plot of approximately 0.279 acres, this Grade II listed detached Cotswold stone cottage was once the home of the celebrated Welsh poet W. H. Davies, best known for his poem Leisure, opening with the immortal lines:

"What is this life if, full of care, we have no time to stand and stare."

A property of genuine historical importance, the attractive Cotswold stone elevations have been mellowed by time, while the interior retains a wealth of period features including exposed beams, original fireplaces, and charming window seats, ideally placed to take in the far reaching countryside views. A distinctive corner picture window further enhances the sense of light and outlook.

Situated in the highly desirable hamlet of Watledge, the cottage enjoys outstanding rural views while remaining within easy reach of the amenities of nearby Nailsworth.

The property would now benefit from a sympathetic programme of refurbishment. This would allow it to be enhanced for modern living while carefully preserving its considerable character and historic significance.

The layout has been altered over time, particularly on the first floor, where there may be scope to improve the arrangement. Subject to the necessary listed building and planning consents, there is potential to reinstate the home office as a separate fourth bedroom, if desired.

The ground floor is entered via the dining room, which provides a welcoming introduction to the home and features a staircase rising to the first floor. From here, doors lead to both the kitchen/breakfast room and the sitting room. In addition, there is an externally accessed workshop/store offering useful ancillary space.

The first floor comprises a spacious landing, three bedrooms, a family bathroom, a separate cloakroom, and a home office.

Ofcom confirms ultrafast broadband is available, with good mobile coverage. The property is connected to mains gas, electricity, water and the executors have advised mains drainage.

Outside

The property is approached via attractive ornate iron railings (detailed in the grade 2 listing) and an elegant wrought iron gateway, creating an impressive first impression. A pathway leads directly to the front entrance, while steps rise to a gravelled patio area at the side of the property, providing an ideal space for outdoor seating. From here, pathways continue around to the rear, with further steps leading up through the generous sloping gardens. A particular feature of the property is its delightful rear garden, which enjoys an elevated position with far reaching views across Nailsworth and the surrounding Cotswold countryside. The lower section is well established with a variety of mature fruit trees, creating a productive and attractive outdoor space. Beyond this, the upper section of the garden has been left to rewild, offering enormous scope for enhancement. We understand this area was formerly home to a garage, long since removed, which was accessed via Whips Lane to the rear of the property. Subject to any necessary consents, the space presents exciting potential for landscaping, the creation of additional seating terraces, vegetable gardens or recreational areas, allowing purchasers the opportunity to create a truly exceptional garden tailored to their own lifestyle. Altogether, the gardens provide a rare combination of established planting, outstanding views and excellent potential, making them a real highlight of this charming home.
