Are you looking for that modern home with all the attributes associated with newer builds, then look no further!

The current owners have taken an attractive property and with tasteful additions, have created an extremely stylish home that is worthy of a closer look.

The property is known as the Oxford and formed part of the Red Row Heritage Collection. The attention to sensible design and presentation is apparent. The traditional bay windows and roofed porch all contribute to that quality feel.

The development is fast earning its position as one of the few executive developments in the area. The wide avenues, communal green areas and walkways for those strolls with the dog, all add to this quality living environment. Access to surrounding business centres can be achieved by road, rail and public transport. Schools and other facilities are offered by the general area.
