Location

The popular village of Reston lies approximately 10 miles north of Berwick-upon-Tweed and has a population of around 500. The village has good local amenities including primary schooling, a post office, village shop and park. Ideally located for access both north and south via the A1, Reston also benefits from its very own railway station on the East Coast Main Line, which runs along the western edge of the village and offers regular connections. The Berwickshire Coast is easily accessible, only four miles from Reston, where there are fantastic beaches and the marine and coastal reserve at St Abb's Head. There are also various activities including scuba diving, sailing and sea fishing.
