SITUATION

Malmesbury is an ancient hilltop town situated on the southern edge of the Cotswolds. Traditionally a market town serving the rural area of North West Wiltshire, Malmesbury is reputed to be the oldest borough in England. Alongside the spectacular 12th century Abbey, the town is brimming with character buildings and streets including the oldest hotel in England, The Old Bell.

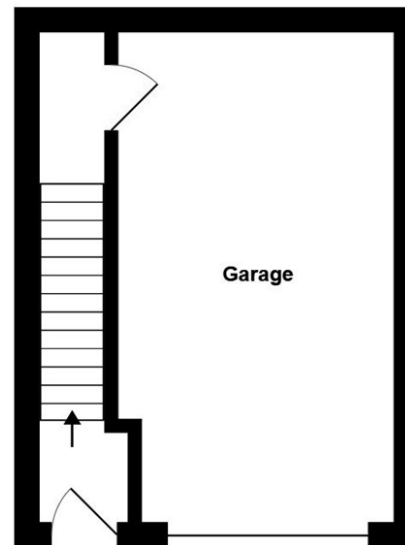

Today, the town centre has numerous independent shops, pubs and restaurants. There are also large supermarkets (Waitrose and Aldi) as well as a weekly Farmer's market at the Market Cross. The town also has an excellent choice of well-regarded primary schools, as well as Malmesbury School (OFSTED Outstanding) for secondary education. There are also a broad range of recreational and leisure facilities to suit all ages.

The M4 motorway (J17) to the south provides fast road access to the major employment centres of Bath, Bristol and Swindon. Main line rail services are available from Chippenham and Kemble (Paddington in about 75 minutes).
