NANSLEDAN

Welcome to Nansledan – Cornish for 'broad valley' – a beautiful 540-acre extension to the vibrant town of Newquay. Here, traditional charm meets modern coastal living in a neighbourhood designed for the future. Inspired by the vision of HM King Charles III and evolved by the Duchy of Cornwall over more than two decades, Nansledan features charismatic streetscapes and sustainable urban design.

Led by an award-winning site manager praised for exceptional craftsmanship, our homes embody character and quality, and are future-proofed with the inclusion of air source heat pumps, solar PV panels, and electric car charging points.

Life in Nansledan is about more than beautiful architecture, it's about joining a community where every day brings new opportunities to connect and thrive. There is a hub of independent shops, cafes, and leisure facilities, plus a primary school and community centre. Market Street is now taking shape and this vibrant new centre will soon feature a market hall showcasing local Cornish produce, alongside new shops, offices, and a public courtyard. With a Tesco supermarket due to open in 2027 and the heart of Newquay – with its excellent beaches and selection of shops and eateries – less than two miles away, everything you need is within reach.

Nansledan also offers nearly 300 acres of green open spaces, including allotments, parks, playgrounds and an orchard. Residents can explore Pras Trewolek (also known as the SANG, which stands for Suitable Alternative Natural Greenspace), which has been transformed into a stunning outdoor haven featuring 3.7km of pathways, viewing platforms, a bird hide, and wildflower meadows.

If you are looking for a characterful home near the sea, Nansledan is the perfect place to call home.

Find out more about our available homes and contact us today to book a viewing.
