2 Talygarn Court, built in the early 2000s, has access to the 140 acre grounds and the Manor itself which was extensively transformed in the late 19th century by George Thomas Clark, a prominent industrialist and horticulturist, into a grand Tudor Gothic mansion with library and lounge.

The lounge is a delightful, light-filled reception room which offers a Juliet-style balcony with double doors opening out enjoying views over the rear garden and further beyond over RCT countryside.

To the lower level ground floor living is the kitchen/dining/living space which connected to the landscaped rear garden. The kitchen has been fitted with a range of shaker-style grey wall and base units with complementary work surfaces and tiled splashback. A range of integral appliances to remain to include; a 4-ring gas hob with oven/grill beneath and extractor hood over, fridge/freezer and dishwasher. One cupboard houses the gas boiler. There is ample space for dining furniture along with a cosy snug/sitting area with French doors leading out onto the rear garden and terrace.

Adjacent to the kitchen/diner is the utility room which provides plumbing for appliances along with an additional sink unit.

To the top floor is the bedroom accommodation with three good sized bedrooms offering two double rooms and one single.
