The ground floor currently comprises a front reception room/bedroom, separate living area and kitchen positioned to the rear of the property. The layout offers fantastic scope for reconfiguration, with the potential to remove the stud wall and create an impressive open-plan living, dining and kitchen space ideal for modern family living. Alternatively, the existing arrangement could be retained to provide a separate lounge and dining room, allowing flexibility depending on a purchaser's requirements. The kitchen itself enjoys direct access from the rear section of the property and offers plenty of potential for extension or upgrading subject to the necessary consents.

The first floor provides a spacious double bedroom alongside a well-appointed family bathroom. The generous proportions throughout the property are immediately apparent, with high ceilings and large windows allowing excellent natural light across each level. This floor would work perfectly as a principal guest suite or could easily accommodate a home office or nursery depending on the needs of the occupier.

Occupying the second floor are two further well-proportioned bedrooms, both offering excellent space for family accommodation or continued HMO use. The layout flows well across the upper floors and provides versatility for a growing family. The property continues to retain many attractive period proportions throughout whilst presenting an exciting opportunity for cosmetic enhancement and personalisation.

The top floor is dedicated to an impressive principal bedroom, occupying the entirety of the third floor and creating a superb master suite with elevated rooftop views across the surrounding area. This level offers exceptional privacy and space, making it an ideal principal bedroom for owner occupiers. Subject to any necessary permissions, purchasers may also wish to explore the possibility of further enhancement to maximise the accommodation on offer.

Whilst the property would make a truly beautiful family home, it also represents an excellent investment opportunity. The house is currently arranged and occupied as a five-bedroom HMO and has consistently proven popular with student tenants. The property is presently let until July 2026 at a rental figure of £3,683 PCM, producing an attractive approximate gross yield of 9.3%. This provides buyers with the option of continuing the investment model or reverting the property back to traditional residential use upon expiry of the tenancy.

St. Martins Place is ideally positioned for easy access to Brighton city centre, the seafront, universities and excellent transport links including Brighton and London Road railway stations. The surrounding area offers an excellent selection of independent cafes, restaurants, parks and local amenities, making this an increasingly desirable residential location. Combining substantial accommodation, investment potential and future flexibility, this is a truly rare opportunity to acquire a sizeable Brighton property with both immediate income and long-term residential appeal.
