£400,000

Close to the sweeping coastline of the Gower Peninsula, Murton offers a setting that feels both connected and quietly removed. Within easy reach are sandy beaches, cliffside walks and open countryside, while the village itself retains a strong sense of community with well regarded schools, independent cafés and everyday amenities nearby. Swansea city centre is accessible for wider shopping and transport links, yet the rhythm here remains unhurried, shaped by sea air and green space.

This detached bungalow sits comfortably within its plot, presenting a home that balances simplicity with thoughtful design. The internal layout unfolds from a central hallway, leading into a well proportioned lounge where natural light settles easily throughout the day. The kitchen is arranged for practical use while maintaining a sociable connection to the rest of the home.

Two bedrooms are positioned to offer privacy and calm, with the principal room benefitting from its own en suite. A separate bathroom serves the second bedroom and guests, completing a layout that is both efficient and well considered.

We feel the bungalow could easily be converted into a three bedroom bungalow.

Outside, the property enjoys a measured sense of space. The front garden is laid to lawn, while a private driveway provides parking for two vehicles. Side access leads to an enclosed rear garden where a patio offers a place for outdoor dining and quiet afternoons, extending onto a lawn bordered by walling and fencing for a sense of seclusion. A set of doors opens to a studio with shower room, creating a flexible addition suited to work, hobbies or retreat.

The overall impression is of a home that sits easily within its surroundings, offering a composed and comfortable base from which to enjoy the character of the Gower and the convenience of nearby Swansea. Access to Caswell Beach is accessible via Bishops wood.
