We have tried to make sure that these particulars are accurate but, to a large extent, we have to rely on what the seller tells us about the property. Once you find the property you want to buy, you will need to carry out more investigations into the property than it is practical or reasonable for an estate agent to do when preparing sales particulars. For example, we have not carried out any kind of survey of the property to look for structural defects and would advise any homebuyer to obtain a surveyor's report before exchanging contracts. If you do not have your own surveyor, we would be pleased to recommend one. We have not checked whether any equipment in the property (such as central heating) is in working order and would advise homebuyers to check this. You should also instruct a solicitor to investigate all legal matters relating to the property (e.g. title, planning permission, etc) as these are specialist matters in which estate agents are not qualified. Your solicitor will also agree with the seller what items (e.g. carpets, curtains, etc) will be included in the sale.

Freehold

3 Bedroom | 2 Reception | 1 Bathroom

£335,000

A beautifully renovated three bedroom Victorian terraced home, combining charming original features with extensive modern improvements in the heart of Eastbourne's sought after Old Town. The current owners have undertaken a comprehensive programme of refurbishment, including replacement windows, a new boiler, stylish refitted kitchen and bathroom, roof improvements and an insulated, boarded loft with new access ladder. The accommodation retains a wealth of character, including exposed brickwork and original feature fireplaces, with two generous reception rooms, a ground floor WC, kitchen, three first floor bedrooms and a modern family bathroom. Outside, the thoughtfully landscaped rear garden is a particular highlight, featuring designated patio seating areas positioned to make the most of the sunshine throughout the day. There is a useful outbuilding with plumbing and space for a washing machine. Further improvements include works to the firewalls, demonstrating the considerable care and investment made by the current owners. Ideally situated in the popular Old Town area, within easy reach of local shops, schools, amenities and the South Downs, this characterful home offers an excellent combination of Victorian charm and modern comfort.
