DESCRIPTION

Foxdown Cottage is a beautifully-presented period residence dating back to 1794, constructed from stone under a slate roof. Extended in 2000 to provide additional living space, the property now offers a spacious and flexible layout extending to approximately 2,387 sq ft (221.7 sq m). Character features abound, including solid pine flooring, antique pine doors, and a delightful original stove alcove in the reception area. The cottage blends charm and modern living with underfloor heating throughout both the ground and first floors.

ACCOMMODATION

The front door leads to a useful hallway to the left and cosy snug to the right. Both open out onto the spacious family room and sitting room making for versatile reception spaces, perfect for any occasion. The large open plan kitchen/dining room is fitted with pine units, a freestanding Calor gas hob and cooker, and an attractive tiled floor. A mezzanine area above provides a large, light-filled open area with Velux windows, currently configured as a wonderfully spacious bedroom. The ground floor is completed by a useful shower room with WC and washbasin and a light and bright conservatory, overlooking the impressive sweep of the gardens.

From the first floor landing Bedroom 2 and Bedroom 3 overlook the front of the cottage, a family bathroom and Bedroom 1 with its en suite shower room overlooks the gardens to the rear.

OUTSIDE

The gardens are a delight with lovingly-tended lawns, beds and borders to provide a feeling of tranquillity and a haven for wildlife. An old well remains on the site, a nod to the property's history and rural roots. The large summer house, although in need of some improvement, presents excellent potential for use as a studio, office, or guest space. Extending to approximately 5.5 acres, the grounds encompass a rich mix of more formal gardens, woodland, and two mature ponds. An extensive selection of mature, varied trees border the gardens and lead into a separate woodland area, which includes a secret garden – a private, tucked-away spot perfect for quiet reflection or creative use.
