We have tried to make sure that these particulars are accurate but, to a large extent, we have to rely on what the seller tells us about the property. Once you find the property you want to buy, you will need to carry out more investigations into the property than it is practical or reasonable for an estate agent to do when preparing sales particulars. For example, we have not carried out any kind of survey of the property to look for structural defects and would advise any homebuyer to obtain a surveyor's report before exchanging contracts. If you do not have your own surveyor, we would be pleased to recommend one. We have not checked whether any equipment in the property (such as central heating) is in working order and would advise homebuyers to check this. You should also instruct a solicitor to investigate all legal matters relating to the property (e.g. title, planning permission, etc) as these are specialist matters in which estate agents are not qualified. Your solicitor will also agree with the seller what items (e.g. carpets, curtains, etc) will be included in the sale.

GUIDE PRICE £680,000 to £695,000

This striking semi detached Victorian villa, dating back to 1898 and rich with original character, offers a rare opportunity on Eastbourne's sought after seafront. Until recently operating as a beautifully maintained and successful bed & breakfast (Use Class C1), the property also benefits from planning consent to be reverted back into a private residential home, making the creation of a substantial family residence both straightforward and appealing (not suitable for HMO use). Notably, the front two bedrooms and their en-suites are formed using studwork, meaning this space could be easily reconfigured into a show-stopping family sitting room with direct access to the balcony and enjoying beautiful sea views. Arranged over multiple floors, the home currently offers 10 bedrooms, 10 bathrooms and 4 elegant reception rooms, all showcasing period detailing including feature fireplaces, generous ceiling heights and charming architectural flourishes. Sea views to the front and peaceful downland vistas to the rear enhance the upper floors, while courtyard style gardens sit to both the front and rear. There is also the benefit of off road parking, with potential to increase parking provision by repurposing the rear courtyard if desired. Immaculately presented throughout, The property has been thoughtfully renovated by its current owners and is perfectly positioned on the quieter end of the seafront, directly opposite the bowling green and just a minute's walk from the beach and Beach Deck Café. Eastbourne's vibrant town centre, with its cafés, restaurants, independent shops and leisure amenities, is also within easy walking distance, making this an exceptional opportunity to create a prestigious family home in one of the town's most desirable coastal locations.
